PLATFORM OF THE NATIONAL TO THE UNFORTUNATE REPUPLICAN PARTY.

When, in the economy of Providence, this land was to be purged of human slevery, and when the strength of the Government of the people, by the people for the people was to be demonstrated, the Republican party came into power. Its deeds have passed into history, and we look back to them with pride, incited by their memories and high aims for the good of our country and mankind. And looking to the future with unfaltering courage, hope and purpose, we, the representative of the party in national convention assembled, make the following declaration of principles:

First.-The United States of America is a nation and not a league, and by the combined workings of National and State Governments ander their respective Constitutions the rights of every citizen are secured at home and pretected abroad, and the common welfare promoted.

Second—The Republican party has preserved these governments to the hundredth anniversary of the nation's birth, and they are now embo timents of the great truths spoken at its cradle—that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that for the attainment of these ends governments have been instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, and until these truths are cheerfully obeyed, or, if needed, to be vig grounly enforced, the work of the Republican party is unfirished.

Third—The permanent pacification of the Southern section of the Union, and the complete protection of its citizens in the free enjoyment of all their rights, are duties to which the Republican party stands sacredly pledged. The power to provide for the enforcement of the principles embedied, if the recent constitutional amendment is vested by these amendments in the Congress of the United States—and all declars it so to be—the solemn obligation of the Legislative and Executive Departments of the Government is to put into immediate and vigorous exercise all the constitutional powers for removing any just causes of disconate and vigorous exercise all the constitutional powers for removing any just causes of discon-tenton the part of any class and for securing to every American citizen complete liberty and exact equality in the exercise of civil, political and public rights. To the end we impera ively demand a Congress and a Chief Executive whose courage and fidelity to those duties shall not falter autil these results are placed beyond dis-pute or recall.

pute or r. cail. Fourth-In the first Act of Congress signed Fourth—In the first Act of Congress signed by President Grant the National Gov-ernment sought to remove any doubts of its duties to discharge all just obligations to public creditors, and solemnly pledged its faith to make a provision at the earliest possible period for the redemption of United States notes in coin. (Cheers.) Commercial prespenty, public morals and the national credit now demand that this promise be ful-filled by a continuous and steady progress to specie payments. specie payments.

Fifth—Under the Constitution, the President and heads of departments are to make nominations for office, the Senate is to advise and consent to the appointments, and the House of Representatives is to accuse and presente faithless officers. The best interests of the public service demand that these distinctions shall be respected, and that Sena and Rep-resentatives, who may be judges and accusers, should not dictate appointments to offices. The invariable rule for appointments should have reference to the honesty, fidelity and ca-pacity of the accordance or sixtue to the party in pacity of the appointers, giving to the party in power these places where the harmony and vigor of the Administration requires its policy to be represented, but permitting all others to be filled by persons selected with sole reference to efficiency of public service, and the right of all citizens to share in the honor of rendering fatthful service to their country.

Sixth-We rejoice at the quickened conscience of the people concerning political affairs, and will hold all public offices to a rigid responsibility, and engage that the prosecution and punishment of all who betray official trusts shall be speedy, thorough and unsparing. Seventh.—The public school system of the several States is the bulwark of the American nation and the Republic, and, with a view to its security and permanence, we recommend an amendment to the Constitution of the United States forridding the application of any public funds or property for the beneat of any schools or institutions under sectarian control. (In response to repeated calls, General Haw-cy read this plank a second time, and the delegates and the audience repeated their cheers. Eighth—The revenue necessary for current expenditures and the obligation of the Public name toward the establishment of equal rights for women, by the many important amendments effected by Republican Leglislatures in the laws which concern the personal and property relations of wives, mothers and widows, and by the appointment and election of women to the superintendency of institutions of education, charity and other public trusts. The honest demands of this class of citizens for additional rights and privileges and immunities should be treated with respectful consideration.

should be treated with respectful consideration, [Applause. Thirteenth-The Constitution confers upor Congress sover-ign power over the Territories of the United States for their government, and in the exercise of this power it is the right and the daty of Congress to prohibit and extirpate in the Territories, that relic of barbarism, polygamy; and we demand such legislation as shall secure this end and the supremacy of American institutions in all our Territories Fourt-enth-The pledges which the nation has given to our soldiers and sailors must be fulfilled. This great people will always hold those who periled their lives for their country's preservation in the kindest remembrance.

Fifteenth-We sincerely deprecate all tional feeling and tendencies, and we, there-fore, note with deep solicitude that the Demo-cratic party counts, as its chief hope of ancess, upon the electoral vote of a united South, secured through the efforts of those who were recently arrayed against the nation, and we invoke the estnest attention of the country to the grave truth that the successes thus achieved would reopen sectional strife and imperit the national honor and human rights.

Sixteenth-We charge the Democratic party with being the same in character and spirit as when it sympathized with treason; with mak-ing its control of the House of Representatives ing its control of the House of Representatives the triumph and the opportunity of the nation's recent foes; with reasserting and applauting at the National Capitol the sentiments of unrerepentant rebellion; with sending Union soldiers to the wail and promoting Confederate soldiers to the front; with deliberately proposing to repudiate the plighted faith of the Government; with being equally false and unbecdle in overchadowing the ends of justice by its partisan mismanagement and obstruction of investigation; with proving itself through the period of its ascendency in the Lower House of Conof its ascendency in the Lower House of Congress, utterly incompetent to administer the dovernment, and we warn the country against trusting a party thus alike unworthy, recreant

Seventeenth — The National Administration merits commendation for its honorable work in the management of domestic and foreign affairs, and President Grant deserves the continued and hearty gratitude of the American people for his patriotism and his lannense services in war and in peace.

Resolved. That we present as our candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, two distinguished statesmen of eminent ability and character, and conspicuously filled Tourists coming from the East should appeal to the American people to intrust the east structure.

Tourists coming from the East should appeal to the American people to intrust the administration of their public affairs to Ruther ford R. Hayes and White at A. Wheeler.
